

STRENGTHENING QUALITY JOURNALISM FOR RECONCILIATION IN CYPRUS

Following the "Cyprus Dialogue" project launched in March 2017 by the OSCE RFOM, the side event aims to look at the current situation of media freedom and journalism in Cyprus. The meeting will explore ways to facilitate mutual understanding of the importance of quality media in divided societies. Heads of journalists' unions of Greek Cypriot and Turkish Cypriot communities will present the ongoing efforts to strengthen quality journalism and will discuss issues such as the role of the media in informing the public about the current developments on the island; the way media freedom can be affected by the division of the island; as well as their joint efforts to ensure fair, ethical and professional reporting on all issues of public interest.

